FLOOR DEBATE

February 24, 2006 LB 1019

SENATOR STUHR: Thank you, Mr. President and members of the body. I believe Senator Bourne has just stated that there would not be a fiscal impact if this amendment were passed. Senator Bourne, do you know or anticipate that there will be an actuary shortage in the Omaha Public School systems this year?

SENATOR CUDABACK: Senator Bourne, you yield?

SENATOR STUHR: Senator Bourne.

SENATOR BOURNE: Yes, I will yield.

SENATOR STUHR: May I ask you...

SENATOR BOURNE: Certainly.

SENATOR STUHR: ...what the amount of that actuarial shortage is expected to be in the Omaha Public Schools?

SENATOR BOURNE: Senator Stuhr, I do not know what the actuarial shortage is in either the OPS plan or in the state teachers' plan, but my understanding is they are both short and that's kind of what's bringing this up to the surface, in that if the state decides to contribute to make one fund whole, we should do the same for our other teachers.

SENATOR STUHR: Senator Bourne, I can tell you that the Omaha Public School District is $5.2 million short. So there would be a fiscal impact for the state.

SENATOR BOURNE: Senator Stuhr, since we're having a dialogue, can you tell me how short the state plan is?

SENATOR STUHR: Yes. It is $12.8 million.

SENATOR BOURNE: Okay.

SENATOR STUHR: And so we...the state plan actually has 80 percent of the teachers. The Omaha Public School District has 20 percent of the teachers. Also, I can tell you another way that the systems vary is that the Omaha Public Schools has
